Risks

The Fund is a multi-asset fund investing primarily in other funds ("Underlying Funds") which themselves may invest in equities, Government Bonds, fixed interest securities (which may include sub-investment grade securities), property and other investments. Investors should be willing and able to assume the risks of equity investing. For full information on the risks, please refer to the Prospectus, Supplement, and KID/KIID for the Fund.

Cumulative Performance

FE fundinfo net of fees to 31.12.25. Investors should note that fees and expenses are charged to the capital of the Fund. This reduces the return on your investment by an amount equivalent to the Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF). The current OCF is 0.97%. Returns for share classes with a different OCF will vary accordingly. Transaction costs also apply and are incurred when a fund buys or sells holdings. The performance returns do not reflect any initial charge; any such charge will also reduce the return.

Fund Profile

Investment Objective

The investment objective is to provide capital appreciation over the long term. Returns will be generated through both capital growth and income, with a bias towards developed and liquid capital markets. The risk will be diversified by holding collective investments in a range of asset classes and geographies. The management of the portfolio aims to meet the objective conservatively by taking managed risk through fund selection and asset allocation. The portfolio is based on the Brewin Dolphin International MPS Passive Plus Growth Strategy.

Investment Policy

The Fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark. The Fund invests in funds in a range of different asset classes.

If you decide to invest, you will be buying units/shares in the Fund and will not be investing directly in the underlying assets of the Fund.

Market Commentary

Global markets delivered strong and resilient performance in the fourth quarter of 2025, capping a year marked by solid gains across most asset classes. Equity markets ended 2025 near record or multi-year highs, supported by easing inflation, resilient economic fundamentals, and growing expectations that major central banks—led by the US Federal Reserve—would continue lowering interest rates in 2026. Notably, non-US equities outperformed US markets for the first time in several years, driven by a weaker dollar, more attractive valuations overseas, and a partial rotation away from highly valued US technology stocks.

The MSCI World Index returned 21% (USD terms) for the full year. While technology and growth sectors continued to dominate performance, signs of market broadening emerged late in the year, benefiting value-oriented and international markets. In the US, equities rose despite political disruptions and labor market cooling. The S&P 500 delivered a near 18% annual gain, supported by rate cuts, solid earnings, and sustained—though increasingly selective—enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI). Market leadership narrowed, however, raising concerns about technology valuations and the durability of AI-driven gains.

European equities significantly outperformed, with the MSCI EMU Index posting returns exceeding 40% in US dollar terms. Investor confidence was supported by easing financial conditions, improving growth forecasts, and resilient labor markets, even as manufacturing activity remained weak. UK equities also enjoyed one of their strongest years in over a decade, driven by globally exposed companies and attractive valuations, while Japanese equities advanced amid political stability, fiscal stimulus, and ongoing corporate governance reforms, despite rising bond yields and valuation concerns.

Emerging markets outperformed the US in the 4th quarter, led by technology-heavy economies such as Korea and Taiwan, while China lagged due to renewed property-sector stress. Asia ex-Japan equities benefited from sustained AI-related demand and improving domestic conditions in several Southeast Asian economies.

Bond markets were more mixed, with UK gilts outperforming. US Treasuries had modest returns, whilst Japanese government bonds sold off sharply. Commodities saw notable divergence: precious metals surged amid geopolitical and inflation concerns, while oil prices fell due to oversupply.

Overall, markets demonstrated resilience despite political uncertainty and slowing growth. Looking ahead to 2026, the outlook remains cautiously optimistic, with diversification and selectivity becoming increasingly important amid higher valuations, persistent macro and geopolitical risks.
