Risks

The Fund is a multi-asset fund investing primarily in other funds ("Underlying Funds") which themselves may invest in equities, Government Bonds, fixed interest securities (which may include sub-investment grade securities), property and other investments. Investors should be willing and able to assume the risks of equity investing. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market and currency movement, and you may not get back the amount originally invested. For full information on the risks, please refer to the Prospectus, Supplement, and KID/KIID for the Fund.

Cumulative Performance

FE fundinfo net of fees to 30.04.26. Investors should note that fees and expenses are charged to the capital of the Fund. This reduces the return on your investment by an amount equivalent to the Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF). The current OCF is 0.97%. Returns for share classes with a different OCF will vary accordingly. Transaction costs also apply and are incurred when a fund buys or sells holdings. The performance returns do not reflect any initial charge; any such charge will also reduce the return.

Fund Profile

Investment Objective

The investment objective is to provide capital appreciation over the long term. Returns will be generated through both capital growth and income, with a bias towards developed and liquid capital markets. The risk will be diversified by holding collective investments in a range of asset classes and geographies. The management of the portfolio aims to meet the objective conservatively by taking managed risk through fund selection and asset allocation. The portfolio is based on the Brewin Dolphin International MPS Passive Plus Growth Strategy.

Investment Policy

The Fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark. The Fund invests in funds in a range of different asset classes.

If you decide to invest, you will be buying units/shares in the Fund and will not be investing directly in the underlying assets of the Fund.

Market Commentary

April was marked by a striking disconnect between geopolitical risk and market performance. Despite erratic cease fires tensions continued between the US and Iran, severe disruption to shipping through the Strait of Hormuz, and Brent crude rising above $110 per barrel, global markets pushed to new highs as investors looked through the headlines and rotated back into risk assets. As we enter May, there is no clear path to end the war as both parties have somewhat immovable demands. That said both equities and bonds produced positive returns during the month.

The prevailing driver of returns was a renewed rally in technology and AI related companies, with the Nasdaq reaching record levels. Growth stocks materially outperformed both value and small caps. Corporate earnings reinforced optimism with around two thirds of the S&P 500 delivering strong year-on-year EPS growth and an unusually high share of companies beating expectations.

Emerging markets and Asia were the standout asset classes, with Taiwan and South Korea both central to the global semiconductor and hardware supply chain.

Fixed income returns were mixed as higher energy prices revived inflation concerns and pushed rate-cut expectations further out (and, in some cases, toward additional tightening). Government bonds struggled in Japan and the UK, while US Treasuries were relatively resilient given the US's net energy exporter position. Corporate debt held up better with spreads tightening amid risk-on sentiment.

Commodities rose, led by energy and industrial metals, supported by both supply disruption risks and real-economy demand tied to AI-related capital expenditure. The outlook remains "two-sided": reopening Hormuz could ease inflation pressure, while continued disruption risks stagflation—supporting the case for diversification across assets, regions, and themes.
